

1430 W. Susquehanna Ave. Philadelphia, PA 19121
info@treehousebooks.org (215) 236-1760
www.treehousebooks.org
www.facebook.com/TreeHouseBooks
Executive Director: Darcy Sebright

What Are Our Programs?

Tutoring Time

We offer free tutoring Tuesday-Friday, from 3:00-5:00. After homework is done, children have free choice reading, or can participate in the activity of the day, which might be creative writing, art, theatre, learning

Junior Staff Member (JSM) Program

We are training young adults to be leaders in the community and mentors to our younger participants. Each of our JSMs completes an application and interview process to be selected for our leadership program.

Our Bookstore

We are stocked with new and used books, specializing in children's books and African American literature.

Magazine Project

We are making a magazine by the neighborhood, for the neighborhood. We run weekly writing and art workshops for children and adults. We also host International Night once a month! Wednesdays, 5:30-7:00.

Who Are We?

Tree House Books is a non-profit organization that creates interactive programs to encourage the North Central Philadelphia neighborhood to explore books and learning in new ways.

A young man tries sushi for the first time at International Night.

Community Events

Our events include Saturday Workshops, Community Film Screenings and Discussions, and Open Mic Nights. Keep in touch with us to learn about upcoming special events!

How Can You Help?

There are many ways you can help!

Tree House Books is constantly in need of:

- ◆ financial support
- ◆ volunteer staff
- ◆ book donations

Growing and sustaining a community of readers, writers, and thinkers in North Central Philadelphia.